

It is highly disappointing to think that the no-call list is being challenged and that once again we will have our weekends and evenings interrupted by telemarketers. Please do everything in your power to stop this from happening. We, the recipients of these unwanted calls have the right to privacy.